BROADGATE SEARCH

Introduction

An ESMA (The European Securities and Markets Authority) compliant programme accredited by the Chartered Institute of Securities & Investment (CISI) & the body of continued professional development (CPD)

At Knightsbridge Trading Academy, we train ex-servicemen and women for careers in financial markets. Our accredited programmes have assisted ex-servicemen and women transition into successful careers within the financial service industry.

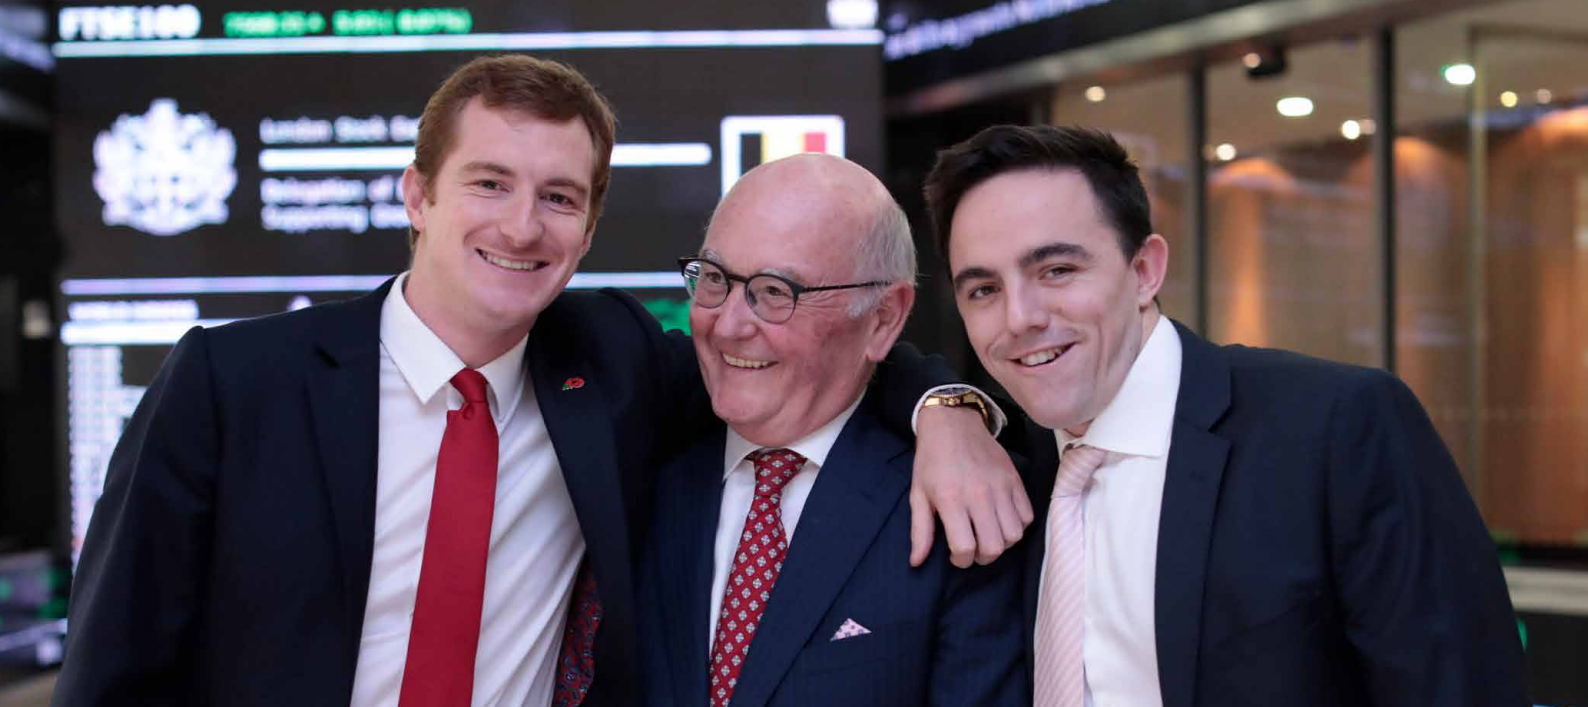

Our doors are open to all those who have served: both NCOs and officers have enrolled, passed our programmes and moved into new careers. Our courses also provide a highly regarded blend of theory and practical based learning which ensures our student leave fit and competent to perform in all financially regulated activities.

We also have our own network of employers actively seeking your newly acquired skill sets and your military experience. In particular, we work exclusively with our recruitment partner, Broadgate Search, a leading recruitment agency in regulated business. Broadgate Search consultants will work proactively with you, assisting you with CV and interview advice, providing feedback and exploring career path options with you.

We admire so many of the attributes that someone from the Military can bring to any role:

- Discipline
- Teamwork
- Leadership
- Ability to stay calm under pressure
- Comfortable in a fast-paced environment
- Decision making with a high level of ambiguity
- Determination
- Flexible in an evolving environment

All these qualities, which are essential in the Military, are also highly sought-after within the financial services industry.

What our students say

LEON PARR

Compliance Analyst, Bank of America | Former Lance Sergeant, British Army

"The knowledge I received was second to none. Since joining and passing the Knightsbridge Trading Academy ITP programme I have now made a successful transition from the military into a career in finance."

ED MCGUINNESS

Ex-military programme candidate, JP Morgan | Former Captain, British Army

"Very comprehensive and focused training program. Military personnel friendly and focusses on their transferable skills throughout. Pleasure to work with."

JAKE BARKER

Information Security Officer, Redington | Former Captain, British Army

"Knightsbridge Trading Academy programmes have seen better growth and success than official government ex-military resettlement schemes."

The excellent tutors, resources, and content put me in the best possible position to pass my CISI exams and IMC. Ultimately this led to me making a successful transition from the Army to Financial Services."
